Horoscope

Saturday, January 2, 1915.
(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

This is not a particularly lucky day, according to astrology. Mars rules strongly for evil, while Saturn is mildly benefic in influence. The evening is the most propitious time for the forming of plans or the seeking of favors, for the Sun is then in benefic aspect.

Under this rule it is wise to be temperate in all appetites and to utilize equally the mental and physical powers.

It is held to be a most unfortunate time to buy, especially machinery, surgical instruments, iron, steel, and hardware.

The prognostication is made that trouble will be caused by a new invention made in the United States.

As the adverse aspect of Mars has a tendency to make men impulsive and headstrong, this is not a propitious day for diplomacy or for official acts, since it is conducive to discretion. The exposure of rash acts will discredit an army man who represents the United States abroad.

While Saturn is friendly, leasing and real estate transactions are believed to be fortunate.

This should be a lucky configuration or mingling. This is a prophecy that operators will profit greatly this month and next, owing to unexpected demands upon the world's store of oil.

There is also a prophecy that they who own oil interests will derive benefits which will be used to aid the world, and the death of a man of wealth will reveal world-wide benefactions.

Repeatedly the seers forewarn the nation that immense expenditures of public money will be necessary in naval and military channels. The president will meet crucial problems.

they prophesy, and he should conserve his strength. Improvements in aerial navigation will mark the next few months, in which there will be much building of aeroplanes and other craft that sails above the earth.

If the stars are correctly interpreted the European war will develop new horrors each month through the winter and will continue for two years. Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have rather a smooth year in business, but they may have disappointment in the home circle.

Children born on this day should be unusually bright and clever. These subjects of Capricorn are likely to be rather visionary.

ORNAMENTAL TEA GOWN.

New York.—The ornamental tea gown has never played much of a part outside of certain social sets in which the women are at home late in the afternoon for tea and make a change of garment for that hour. The average woman would find the adoption of the whole regime a very soothing one if she could make up her mind to arrange for it. Then the tea gown would be necessary.

Even in smart metropolitan life, as in French life, there is a frequent use of the loose, colorful tea gown as an informal dinner gown. There were times when women were not supposed to wear "wrappers" to the table, but there is so little difference between the silhouette of formal and informal frocks today that it takes an astute observer to know whether a dinner gown is really a dinner gown or something else.

Using Tea Gown.—The modern idea of looking unostentatious even if one is not, which, by the way, is a fashion which is seriously threatened with extinction, allows a woman to make frequent use of that kind of robe which the English call a tea gown, we call a house gown and the French call a robe d'intérieur.

The latter is a good name for it, because it allows it an elastic use. One can wear it for any house occasion, and if it is sufficiently ornate it can be put on when a woman comes in at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, after a day's work, and not feeling quite up to the act of dressing for dinner. The loose, comfortable gown which can be worn with or without corsets, and which is sufficiently low in the neck for comfort and not too low for informality, is exactly the type of costume that is gratefully adopted by a tired woman in those dusky hours that precede dinner, and it is not necessary that she should have tea served merely because she wears that kind of frock.

There is a growing tendency toward the use of yellow in the house, and this new tea gown that has been sent over from Paris by the house of Jean Helle brings out a mastery in combining several tones of yellow.

The skirt is of a yellow chiffon, which floats away from a satin lining; the bodice, which is combined with a deep girdle, is of orange colored velvet. There is a tulle coat in a softer shade of yellow which is fastened to the waist with gold flowers.

The chiffon skirt, by the way, is well embroidered in gold, the same tone of gold that is used in the flowers which fasten the coat to the skirt. With it are worn yellow satin slippers and stockings.

There is no reason why such a gown as this should not be entirely suitable for any kind of dinner that was not given formally in some one else's house.

It is too elaborate for a tea gown to be used by the average woman who is not accustomed to entertaining a few social callers at the 5:00 o'clock hour, but it is the idea embodied in this gown that makes it worth while and which will lead it to be used as inspiration for many kinds of house frocks.

Glove buttons made of gold are being introduced by a jewelry house. They bear an engraved monogram and may be changed from one pair of gloves to another.

TO CLEAN A STOVE.—To clean the nickel on a range or other stove, I find the most satisfactory results obtained by rubbing it with a cloth, moistened in equal parts of turpentine and vinegar, and then polishing with newspaper, writes a contributor. This cuts all grease which so often collects on cooking stoves.

MILDEW REMOVED.—To remove mildew, wet cloth with soapuds, lay in sun; spread with a paste of soft soap and powdered chalk and sun it; soak in buttermilk and sun, or put a spoonful of chloride of lime into a quart of water, strain and dip the mildewed cloth into it. Repeat if necessary.

Repeat if necessary.

ALL CASH NEEDED.

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 31.—While the several departments of state government have collected thousands of dollars in fees during the past two years they have spent as much in meeting expenses that can be paid from them judging from the biennial report of the state auditor which has just been issued. It shows that the total expenditures of public institutions of the state total $1,425,280.60 during the past two years, that the interest on deferred payments on land during the same period was $236,558.60, rentals on land amounted to $183,544.27, interest on invested funds was $49,940.54, the total appropriations of the last legislature was $2,404,239.60, the total bonded indebtedness of the state is $2,390,250, the total assessed valuation of the state in 1914 was $391,086,355.23.

The grand total receipts and disbursements for the two years are shown to be $32,415,762.22. What is drawn during the same period amounted to $5,554,819.51. Receipts of the various departments are given as follows: Land department, $2,225,219.42; secretary of state, $247,596.28; insurance commissioner, $184,009.66; game department, $87,141.74; state engineer, $35,845.19; state veterinarian, $26,024.97; bank commissioner, $19,020.25; pure food department, $13,120.10; supreme court, $8,571.54; superintendent public instruction, $2521; bureau of vital statistics, $3,388.80.

JUVENILE JUDGE ON THE NECESSITY OF AIDING POOR

In a recent conversation relative to the good work that had been done at Christmas time by local charitable organizations, clubs and individuals among the young people of the city and especially among the youngsters with whom he and his assistants have to deal during the entire year, Judge Volney C. Gunnell, of the juvenile court, stated that the kind treatment had had a wholesome effect on them and that but little mischief had been observed during the holidays.

The general and generous assistance given to the poor during the last few days has pleased the judge and probation officers, since a condition of actual want, or a close approach to this always puts up to these juvenile officers the important question whether a child should be left in present home, whether with parent or other person, or be taken away and be placed in a more promising home.

In a month from now the conditions which arise from poverty, threatening the welfare of children, and troubling the minds of these officials, will be at their worst, and be aggravating and puzzling. The county, through its commissioners, will continue to help the families in most distressing need, and relief societies, Children's Aid society, Martha society, Salvation Army, and other active friends of the unfortunates will do much to bring solution to the problems of the poor but the widespread and generous gifts of the Christmas season will have been consumed, and the minds of those contributing largely to these gifts will be turned to other affairs. Judge Gunnell says that it will be necessary to other affairs. Judge Gunnell says that it will be necessary for the charity movement to assume definite shape and action, if children are to be saved from destitution, dependency and degradation.

The juvenile officers are always much interested in and concerned about those who face actual want of the common necessities of life, as the results of such condition in the family existence are too well known and too disastrous to be disregarded. Of course, all had among young people does not flow from the conditions referred to, nor is the worst to be accounted for in that way. But the law recognizes that mental and spiritual vulgarity aptly, almost surely, follow a state of continued physical degradation. Considering these things seriously and having in mind the many cases of "misfits" as to children in their homes, for other reasons as well as poverty, the judge desires to always have on hand the names of persons, who are inclined to take a child to raise, or keep a boy or girl who wants to attend school and have a suitable home meantime.

REPORT SYSTEM FOR THE CITY POLICE DEPARTMENT

A special meeting of the police department was held yesterday afternoon with T. S. Browning, head of the department of public safety, as chairman. The principal business matter attended to was the announcement that a system of definite report making was to be inaugurated with the opening of the new year.

A report blank has been drawn up and approved by Commissioner Browning and Chief of Police W. I. Norton. An explanation of it was given by the two officials. It calls for a daily report from each officer, as to the time he went on his beat, and left it; the alleys visited and sanitary conditions found; the number of pool rooms visited and conditions found; the number of rooming houses and saloons visited and the hour at which the latter were closed. In addition to these points, a space is left on the report blank for remarks concerning special conditions noted. The blanks were put in use today.

ARE YOU ASHAMED OF YOURSELF?

Every week we receive several letters that have no way of being identified. Some sign "taxpayer," others "subscriber," etc. All such unidentified letters go to the waste basket. Some of the letters have splendid NEWS ITEMS; they all go to the waste basket without a real name is even needed. Therefore please write your name and address plainly on the letter for identification. Fully half of the letters we receive, that are unsigned, are simply crude jokes, therefore we must have each letter identified before we can use it.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

THIS is the caution applied to the public announcement of Castoria that has been manufactured under the supervision of Chas. H. Fletcher for over 30 years—the genuine Castoria. We respectfully call the attention of fathers and mothers when purchasing Castoria to see that the wrapper bears his signature in black. When the wrapper is removed the same signature appears on both sides of the bottle in red. Parents who have used Castoria for their little ones in the past years need no warning against counterfeits and imitations, but our present duty is to call the attention of the younger generation to the great danger of introducing into their families spurious medicines. It is to be regretted that there are people who are now engaged in the nefarious business of putting up and selling all sorts of substitutes, or what would more properly be termed counterfeits, for medicinal preparations not only for adults, but worse yet, for children's medicines. It therefore devolves on the mother to scrutinize closely what she gives her child. Adults can do that for themselves, but the child has to rely on the mother's watchfulness. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
